WHILEFALE DRY COODS,

Comissioners Will Take 150 State Introduces Four Witnesses in Effort to Convict Suspect Boyd.

OGDEN, March 27.—Progress was made today with the preliminary hearing of J. J. Boyd, charged with holding up the Reed hotel three weeks ago and compelling Night Clerk Ralph Unander to open the safe and turn over $387. After three witnesses had been examined, a continuance was ordered until next Thursday, when the state will resume the introduction of its testimony. Mrs. Kate Toponce, owner of a rooming house at 2422 Adams avenue, Pete Mitchell, a bell boy, and Ralph Unander, clerk at the Reed hotel, were the witnesses who gave their testimony at today's session of Judge J. D. Murphy's court. OGDEN, March 27.-Progress was Mitchell, a bell boy, and Ralph Unander, clerk at the Reed hotel, were the witnesses who gave their testimony at today's session of Judge J. D. Murphy's court.

Mrs. Toponce recognized Boyd as one of the men who engaged a room from her a few days before the hotel was robbed. She said he gave his name as Brown, and the other man introduced himself as Mr. Jones. The two men paid their rent every day until the Sunday of the holdup, when, Mrs. Toponce said, Boyd told her he had trouble in getting a some money, but would pay her on the following day. The next day he was arrested a short time after he had paid his landlady for the two days' rent and a day in advance, Mrs. Toponce testified. The witness testified that Jones, who the police say was John Wall, the other suspect who dropped dead in his cell at the city jail ten days ago, obtained some kindling the morning of the robbery, and told her he wanted a fire in his room, as he would be reading most of the morning. She did not detect any neculiar odor, as if something was being burned. The witness did not remember hearing the two men when they came in the morning the hotel was robbed, but she says that she remembered Wall asking her if she had heard them when they came in.

Pete Mitchell, the beliboy at the hotel proved the most interesting witness. If he could have got hold of a gun when the hotel was being robbed he would have killed both bandits, and, unlike the half-dozen others in the hotel at the time, he was the only man who held his nerve while the robbers were flourishing their revolvers. He admitted this without other proof. Mitchell's description of one of the bandits as having a hooked nose fitted Boyd, who, the witness declared, he was almost positive was one of the men. On cross-examination by Attorney A. G. Horn, the defendant's counsel, he was almost positive was one of the men. On cross-examination by Attorney A. G. Ogden Drug Stores Accused of Disconnius House Howel's court, the trial same suit was begun today in the state of the Working for the states of the state employed inspectors to come to Ogden and have prescriptions filled at the various drug stores. Four of the prescriptions, after being analyzed, showed that substitutes had been used instead of the particular drug mentioned in the prescription. A prominent physician of Ogden was engaged by the company to write the prescriptions, and the result of the analysis was shown to the physicians, according to the warning letter.

The letter is written by a firm dealing in a form of silver bittellin, a proteid of wheat. According to this firm, the four Ogden drugsists have been substituting another preparation.

In many instances, the substitution of this drug by an inferior medicine has caused nemorrhages and other cell effects to the patient, says the letter.

Ogden physicians are divided in their opinions regarding the contents of the letter. Some say that the facts are unquestionably true, while others believe that it is merely an effort on the part of the medical company to force local drugsists to use their preparations. The letter to the physicians states that the district attorney will be asked to take some acion against the guilty druggists.

SEN. BOB TAYLOR TICKLES BINGHAM

Special to The Tribune.

BINGHAM, March 27.—Dan Stetich and Joe Barbevitch. Austrians, were taken to the county jall at Salt Lake City today and will probably be charged with resisting an officer. Stetich started in to shoot up Highland Boy last night and was carrying out his programme in a fast and furious manner when Deputy Sheriff Schweitzer concluded to take a hand in the festivities. Stetich resented the interference of the officer and before Stetich had been made to view the matter in the proper light the deputy sheriff had been compelled to bend his gun over the Austrian's head.
